mistreat my mother," declared Frank, the 13-year-old son of Clark Gregory of No. 1517 Collins street, St. Louis, and an instant later a bullet from a repeating ride, which the boy carried, pierced his father's heart. The shooting took place in the shadow of the Advance elevator on the East St. Louis ernoon. It was witnessed by half a dozen persons, and by Anthony Stocker, an East St. Louis detective, who ran after and captured young Gregory, who was escaping toward the Eads bridge.

The boy boasts that he crossed the river for the sole purpose of killing his father and when in the police station after his arrest and before he was aware of his father's death, declared, "I am sorry that I did not make as good a job as I thought

Charles Fields, a companion of young Gregory, crossed the river with him, and is being held by the police, but he asserts that he did not know that Gregory had de-signs on his father's life. Fields was very drunk, while young Gregory, who admitted

"Til fix you so that you will never again mistreat my mother," declared Frank, the 13-year-old son of Clark Gregory of No. 1517 Collins street, St. Louis, and an instant later a bullet from a repeating ride, which meant to do.
ABUSED WIFE AND CHILDREN.

Clark Gregory was a weigher at the Ad-vance elevator and lived with his wife, two levee front about 3:30 o'clock yesterday aft- | sons and a daughter at No. 1517 Collins street, St. Louis. One son, Frank, worked at the Advance elevator as an otler. Fields worked with him and they were almost always seen together. Gregory took turns with the other weigher at watching the elevator on Sundays. Yesterday was Gregory's

Sunday on duty.

According to young Gregory, his father has been making the home life of the family miserable for years. The boy says that his father constantly quarreled with his mother and also ill treated the other mem-bers of the family. Yesterday morning, he says, that his father tried to assault his mother at the breakfast table and called her vile names.

Young Gregory says that he brooded over this alleged ill treatment of his mother and he determined to avenge himself. He says that he confided in no one, but secured his rifle, a repeating gun, and, getting Fields, crossed the river. He left Fields at the side of the Advance elevator while he waited around for his father to appear. The elder Gregory soon appeared in his shirt sleeves and whistling. Father and sen met face to face within about 'en feet, near the corner of the clevator. As young Greg-ory delivered his ultimatum, quoted above, he raised his ride and, taking a steady aim, fired. The cider Gregory fell, and after looking at the body young Gregory dropped the rifle and ran down Front street. Fields was near by, and, becoming frightened, ran with Gregory. Detective Stocker was too flee for them and grabbed Gregory, while Pa-trelman McElligott captured Fields. BOY TALKS OF HIS ACT.

In the meantime several telephone mes-sages had been sent for ambulances. One was sent from Kurrus's stable, but before the ambulance arrived uptown Gregory had Young Gregory and Fields were taken to the police station, where they were locked up in separate cages.

The boy became communicative after his incarceration. "My father was the whole cause of all of this," he told The Republic. "I came over here with the intention of killing him. He made our home life miserable. He insulted my mother and tried all sorts of ways to make trouble in the family. He used pieces of furniture to throw at us when he did not feel in a good humor.
"The climax came this morning when h insulted mother at the breakfast table and tried to strike her. I thought that that was the limit and the more I thought about it the madder I got, and I then made up my mind to kill him. mind to kill him.

"I did not tell my mother, sister or broth-

This not ten my mother, sinter or prother, because I knew that they would have tried to talk me out of it. I just got down my rifle without them seeing it and walked out of the house, got Fields and we came ver here. I then had him wait for me til after I shot my father." After his incarceration young Gregory requested that his folks be communicated with and informed as to what he had done.

MOTHER HYSTERICAL

Mrs. Gregory when informed by The Republic yesterday afternoon that her hi by her son, became hysterical. She wrung her hands in despair and ran from her home to the street, where kind neigh-bors tried to soothe her without avail. She upbraided several neighbors whom she had asked to summon a policeman to arrest her son when he departed with the shotgun, as she feared he would get into trouble, since he had been drinking, but she at that time did not dream that his father would be the came quieted, partly from exhaustion, and made a statement. She said: "I don't know what could have possessed my boy to kill his father, unless it was drink. He was only 18 years old. Yesterday was his birthday. He was always a good boy, worked stendily as a helper to his father at the elevator, and I don't believe they ever had a cross word.

Lately Frankle got in with a bad crowd nd began drinking. He began going with a crowd who lounge about a saloon near Broadway and Howard street, and frequently stayed around there all night. He stayed out all last night and did not come home until about 11 o'clock to-day. He was wet from head to foot and said he had been almost drowned in the river. He was in an unusually pleasant frame of mind, however, and after changing his clothes went up-steirs and broke open a wardrobe and took out his father's shorgun. He did not seem angry and I am sure he did not at that time have designs upon his father's life

DENIES SON'S STATEMENTS. "He did not say he was going to shoot anybody, but when he left the house I feared he would get into trouble and asked several neighboring women to look for a policeman and have him arrested." eared he would get into trouble and asked veral neighboring women to look for a cliceman and have him arrested."

When told that young Gregory had said but he shat his father because the latter that the state of the same the latter than the same that his father because the latter than the same that his father because the latter than the same than the same that his father because the latter than the same t that he shot his father because the latter had abused her, she denied it in toto. "It's not so." she said. "My husband and I never had a cross word in our lives." This I never had a cross word in our lives. This statement was corroborated by neighbors, who declared that the Gregory family felations were happy; that Gregory was a good man and provider, and that Frank, when he was not drinking, was an expensively wouth emplary youth.

The only explanation vouchsafed for the tragedy is that the boy in a maudin condition carried the gun to the scene of his daily work, and the elder Gregory, seeing the shotgun, which he had forbid any of his family to touch, became angry and remonstrated, which resulted in the tragedy.

Carlyle Teachers Appointed.
REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Carlyle, Ill., July 25.—The Board of Education has filled the vacancies in the corps of teachers for the Carlyle public schools by making appointments as follows: Miss Margaret Proctor of Carthage, Ill., assistant principal; Miss Clara Morse, room 8, and Miss Celo Murray of Carlyle, room No. 8.

ZINC ORE REMAINS

Choice Lot Sells for $41 a Ton-Lead Prices Advance. REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Joplin, Mo., July 28.—One bin of two cars of zinc was sold during the past week at $41 per ton. $1 higher than has recently been paid, but the ore was from the new mine of Power & Co., being the first sale, and assayed over 64 per cent zinc.

This mine is being operated on land that belongs to the Empress Zinc Company, and is on the site of a zinc smelter formerly operated by this company. It is called the smelter reserve, the adjoining land being sold a few years ago. There are twenty acres, and it was offered for sale two years ago at $24,000. Recently the Empire Company declined an offer of $72,000 for the tract. In addition to the mine of Power & Co., several important drill strikes have been made during the summer.

With the exception of the one lot of zinc mentioned above, the top price remains at $40 generally over the district, and the assay basis is still $35 to $57 per ton. Lead, however, atvanced $1 per ton the fore part of the week, and all purchases are settled for on the higher price. This mineral is $5 per ton higher than a year ago, while zinc is selling at the same price.

Twelve carbads of zinc and seven carloads of lead are reported in the sales this week from F runa, in Central Missouri, a camp that is making a splendid record in output. Both the zinc and lead are of sigh grade and command the top of the market brices.

grade and command the top of the market prices.

While the shipments are at present light from Gallend, a renewel activity in coapecting, mine development and the unwatering of old mines is giving employment to a larger number of miners. In fact, miners are in demand in every camp of the district, liquiries have been made during the past week for miners from Fortuna, Cole Camp, in Benton County, and from several camps in Arxinsas.

Following are the sales of zinc and lead in pounds from the various camps of the Jophin district for the week ending July 25, 1963;

Deaf Mates' Pienie.

Beaf Mates' Pienie.

Nashville, Ill., July 28.—The St. Louis Deaf-Mute Association held its annual outing at Washington Park in Okawville today. A special train of seven coaches on the Louisville and Nashville Raliroad carried the picnickers to the scene of the day's festivities.

Bowling, boating and other amusements were provided for the entertainment of the children.

"Suy, pa," queried small Bobby, "what is gossiping anyway?"
"Gossi,ing, my son," replied the old man, "if we get right down to the plain, unvarnished facts, is lying. But why did you shall?" "Because," answered the young investigator, "ma says you do a lot of gossiping every time your business keeps you late at the office."—Kansas City Star.

Ruins of the Meyer boarding-house, at Alton, where Miss Ruth Meyer of Grafton, Ill., was burned to death yesterday morning, and five others seriously injured. Wheat. The loss is partially covered by invictims of the FIRE.

SUSPECT INCENDIARISM.

The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin. The theory of the police is to this effect inasmuch as three other attempts have been made to start a fire in this section within the last six weeks. In each case the night police discovered the blaze before any serious damage was done. The destroyed buildings are situated in East Second street

The fire was discovered by Charles F.:

Hanze, a boarder at the Jones boarding-house. Hanze and Frank Kerns, another boarder, gave the alarm and tried to awaken all the inmates. Most of them, how-ever, were overcome with the smoke and gas, which came from a gas main running into the laundry, which exploded a few mo-ers had difficulty in extinguishing the

Miss Ruth Meyers was not missed until after the fire had been in progress for nearly an hour, and when the flames had been subdued sufficiently to permit the fire-men to enter the boarding-house her body was found burned to a crisp. The young lady had evidently not been able to leave her room, and was probably overcome by Negro Shoots at Companion.

B. B. Nash, a negro, 17 years old, drew a revolver and fired five shots at John Hick-mann, also a negro, on the baseball grounds at Eighth street and the Louisville and Nashville Railroad tracks yesterday afternoon. The shooting was done while a crowd of men and boys were watching the baseball game, and it is considered aimost remarkable that some one was not killed. Hickmann was shot through the coat shoulder, but was not injured. Policeman Chance arrested Nash.
